II. Women’s advancement, empowerment, development and participation.

Vision
Peaceful prosperous Sri Lanka where all its peoples are living with dignity enjoying equal rights.

Mission
Work towards strengthening democracy, women’s advancement and equal participation in order to achieve sustainable development and permanent peace in Sri Lanka.
AWAW’S WORK

The Road to Reconciliation in partnership with International Civil Society Action Network (ICAN) with Canada Funding

AWAW has carried out several activities on the topic of gendered transitional justice and reconciliation processes. Transitional justice and reconciliation processes are vital steps in the direction of sustainable peace. This is relevant in Sri Lanka where the government has embarked on two parallel processes of reconciliation.

Thus, recognizing that it was a time of immense importance for the country and to acknowledge how conflict affects people and communities in the most profound ways, AWAW designed a project which envisaged a 4-pronged approach in complimenting the task undertaken by the Government of Sri Lanka on the reconciliation process in the country. That is,

1. Take the message of the importance of transitional justice mechanisms in order to move forward to the grass roots though women and civil society leaders.
2. Use media, both mainstream and social, to take the message to a wider public.
3. Engaging in peace/security processes at national/international level and integrating a gender lens.
4. Promoting a culture of peace/conflict prevention/peacebuilding

The project was carried out over several months, through several activities.

Social Cohesion and Reconciliation Activity - Strengthening Good Governance and Democracy: Women Taking Leadership

The Association of War Affected Women in partnership with Global Communities proposed the implementation of the project “Strengthening Good Governance and Democracy: Women Taking Leadership” in Sri Lanka in key aim of reinforcing cooperative relationships across divides and to increase the participation of women in peace and reconciliation processes.
The project will also be working towards the advancement of women of all ages and all strata of life including women with special needs as well as women who are indigenous and living in rural as well urban areas.

It will also train women on women peace and security (WPS) agenda enabling them to take UNSCR 1325 to the grassroots so that this will enable them to mitigate conflicts at the community level and earn respect from the local population. They can enhance their ability to be leaders at various levels AND will be able to address issues which are a hindrance for the full advancement and equal participation of women and through their agency achieve sustainable peace through the implementation of a comprehensive reconciliation process whereby social cohesion will be the norm of the day.

Activity 1- Training on Advocacy and Social Cohesion

In the main aim of mobilizing women for advocacy and bestowing them with knowledge on methods that can be used to initiate positive change for social issues, AWAW in partnership with Global Communities, held 8 one-day Advocacy trainings on Social Cohesion and Reconciliation in 8 selected districts in Sri Lanka.

Workshops were held in

1. Jaffna
2. Monaragala
3. Vavuniya
4. Trincomalee
5. Batticaloa
6. Ampara
7. Mullaitivu
8. Killinochchi

A total of 209 women coming from the above districts were trained on Advocacy and Social Cohesion. Through this activity we understood that almost all the participants had very little knowledge of the word: “Advocacy” but they knew the process somewhat and also has taken some steps of advocacy in their work in the communities. The highlight of these workshops was that all of them felt “while advocating for common issues, they have to keep the unity among the diverse communities” We believe these workshops had reinforced the importance of people coming together to advocate for common issues and identifying and focusing on the issue while always keeping in mind the importance of unity among diverse communities are able to come together, work together and will be also careful that it will not hurt or exclude any community.
